

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million (19.5% of the population).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people, and the Government has set out a strategy for the 21st century in the White Paper on Ageing Better: A Strategy for the 21st Century (Department of Health 1999). This strategy sets out a number of key objectives for the health care system, including:

- to improve the health and quality of life of older people;
- to ensure that older people are able to live independently in their own homes;
- to ensure that older people are able to access the services they need;
- to ensure that older people are able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives for the health care system, including:
